Illegal fish factory fined £60,000

A CHARLTON company has been fined £60,000 for multiple food hygiene and health and safety breaches.

Michael Adedipe, the director of Ades Limited, appeared at Woolwich Crown Court last month where the judge warned that a repeat offence would result in a prison sentence for him.

Mr Adeipe was fined for food hygiene and health and safety breaches, including the storage of mouldy fish and other food products unfit for human consumption. He was also found guilty of running an illegal fish processing business at one of his premises.

The case followed the discovery of an unauthorised fish processing and packaging business operating in a run-down building in Charlton two years ago. Royal borough environmental health officers swooped on the business when it was found to be supplying products across Europe illegally and in very poor sanitary conditions. Officers condemned over 3,580kg of food product as not safe for human consumption including mouldy fish found in a packaging room.

Ades Limited were known to council officers as they had previous been fined for offences in 2012 including selling bags of rice contaminated by mice droppings.

As well as the £60,000 fine, the company was ordered to pay costs of £2,195.31 as well as a victim impact order of £120.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment said: "The royal borough welcomes punitive action being taken against businesses blithely ignoring the law even after formal warnings. We will continue to do all we can to protect the health of our residents through cracking down on such unsafe practices."

● If you are concerned about a food outlet which you suspect may be in breach of Food Safety and Hygiene Resolutions or Health and Safety legislation, contact the environmental health team on 020 8921 8186 or health@royalgreenwich.gov.uk.

Sail trainees hit the decks for tall ships countdown

AT THE HELM: Cllr Denise Scott-McDonald joins Sail Training International members on The Morgenster, inset, Lady Rona Delves Broughton, patron of the 2017 festival and below, performers

THE countdown to the Royal Greenwich Tall Ships Festival 2017 begun during the launch of the Royal Greenwich Festivals last Wednesday (May 11).

And with less than a year to go before they embark on a voyage of a lifetime, the first of the royal borough's new sail trainees got a taste of life aboard a tall ship. Ten trainees went on board The Morgenster where they were shown the ropes as the vessel made the trip from historic Woolwich Arsenal to Maritime Greenwich World Heritage Site.

The sail trainees include young people from across the royal borough who have been given the opportunity by the council to be crew members on some of the tall ships taking part in next year's Sail Training International event.

The trainees will take part in an exhilarating race, sailing on some of the regatta's magnificent tall ships to Portugal.

During the regatta, which runs from April 13-16 next year, tall ships will be anchored at two festival sites – the Maritime Greenwich UNESCO World Heritage Site in Greenwich town centre, and the Royal Arsenal Riverside in Woolwich.

The finale of the festival will see a huge Parade of Sail on April 16, when around 40 tall ships will sail down the Thames in convoy en route to Quebec, Canada.

The regatta marks the 150th anniversary of the Canadian Confederation, when Canada officially became a nation.

Sail trainee Peter Forrester said: "Being part of this is a life changing experience and it was great to get a feel of a Tall Ship and meet some of the other trainees."

Sail Trainee ambassador Sophie Britton said: "My experience on the Tall Ships in 2014 was amazing and I am really looking forward to doing it all over again."

Royal borough council leader Denise Hyland said: "The Royal Greenwich Tall Ships Festival 2017 is an unrivalled opportunity to attract visitors boosting the local economy and providing young people with an experience that could help shape their future by developing their confidence and building leadership and teamwork skills."

Further information on the Sail Training International Rendez-vous Tall Ships Regatta 2017 is at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/tallships2017 Or check #TallShips on Twitter.

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH

Glory at St George's

BRAVE servicemen were recognised at a gallantry award service in the grounds of the historic St George's Chapel earlier this month.

The event marked the 300th anniversary of the foundation of the Royal Artillery and also honoured past and present recipients of gallantry awards. A service of commemoration took place, with citations read out to honour the people involved. A number of the attendees present had served in Afghanistan and Iraq.

The event was also an opportunity to further strengthen the link between Royal Greenwich and the military, which has a long history and valued presence in both Woolwich and the borough as a whole.

Local people can now enjoy the splendid surrounds of St George's Garrison Church every Sunday, with a series of open days for the local community also planned in the near future.

St George's was built between 1863 and 1867 to serve the Royal Artillery in Woolwich and was designed in the style of an Early Christian-Italian Romanesque basilica.

The church suffered significant damage after it was bombed in 1944, when the roof and many other key features were destroyed or damaged. In 2015 work was undertaken to protect and secure the building. This involved installing a canopy roof to protect the surviving mosaics including a VC memorial of St George and the Dragon amongst other conservation work.

This project, led by the Heritage of London Trust Operations Ltd, was funded with a grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund, and contributions from Historic England, the Royal Artillery Charitable Fund and others.

A second phase of conservation work which will secure and protect fragile decorative features is currently in development and a local trust is forming to manage the site.

● The church is open every Sunday January to May, 10am – 1pm. June to September, 10am – 4pm. Visit www.stgeorgeswoolwich.org

Latest figures show 17.4% fall in crime

THE COUNCIL has welcomed new figures showing a 17.4 per cent drop in crime rates for the royal borough.

Figures for Greenwich also show a fall in household burglaries, with recorded incidents dropping by 35.7 per cent. However, incidents of violent crime with injury have increased by 5.7 per cent. While this is significantly below the London-wide increase of 20.2 per cent, tackling violent crime remains a top priority for both the royal borough and the local Metropolitan Police; it will be gang-related crime in the borough. It follows a successful year when the unit seized over £100,700 in cash and drugs with a street value of almost £50,000; officers made 214 arrests and 34 offensive weapons were taken off the streets.

Over the last two years, the council has invested £675,000 to support victims of domestic violence and encourage perpetrators to seek help. The funding supports the work of the domestic violence intervention team (DVIT), a police unit based at Plumstead police station, which provides an emergency people. The council and Metropolitan Police met with parents earlier this year to focus on how families can seek support and advice if they are worried about their son or daughter getting involved in violent crime.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the royal borough's cabinet member for community safety and environment said: "The drop in crime illustrated by these recent figures is very encouraging. Residents will also be heartened to see a reduction in the number of residential burglaries being committed."

"The increase in violent crime however, remains a serious concern. Tackling it will remain the highest priority for the Safer Greenwich Partnership along with bolstering the successful VOCU and Greenwich Domestic Violence and Abuse Service."

The stats are based on targets for seven categories of crime set four years ago by the Mayor of London Office for Policing and Crime (MOPAC).

“The increase in violent crime however, remains a serious concern. Tackling it will remain the highest priority for the Safer Greenwich Partnership” the main focus of the Safer Greenwich Partnership (SGP) - a cross-agency group specialising in tackling crime, anti-social behaviour and substance misuse.

The council also continues to support the Violent and Organised Crime Unit (VOCU) a police unit set up to target response and follow-up support. Funding is also given to the Greenwich Domestic Violence and Abuse Service to provide a telephone helpline for victims.

The royal borough is also working closely with its partners to challenge some of the underlying factors behind violent crime especially among young

Cancer awareness roadshow in town

Like minds on mental health matters

Relationships theme for week of events

RELATIONSHIPS and maintaining good mental health is the theme for Mental Health Awareness Week.

The royal borough is hosting a number of events until Friday May 22 to promote the week and local mental health organisations. The theme this year is healthy which represents supportive relationships and the importance of relationships in maintaining good mental health.

The events are being run by the Greenwich Mental Health and Wellbeing Forum which represents a range of organisations offering services to support people's mental health and wellbeing.

Events include an old-fashioned style market with homemade cakes, food and plants on sale, as well as local wellbeing products and services and information stalls. Visitors will also be able to indulge in Thai foot massages, Reiki and Reflexology.

Royal Greenwich libraries will be displaying information on how to maintain good mental health and will also be handing out leaflets with all books borrowed that explain the key elements that make up healthy relationships such as communication, boundaries and trust.

David Gardner, the council's cabinet member for health, social care and public health said: "Services that support mental wellbeing are a priority for the council and promoting awareness of mental health and ways to improve it are at the forefront of our public health strategy."

The old-fashioned market will be held on Wednesday May 18 from 11am-4pm at: Recovery College Greenwich, First Floor, Equitable House, 10 Woolwich New Road, London, SE18 6AB.

Council supports more community projects

SIX more community projects have received funding from a council scheme which was set up to benefit neighbourhood projects.

Under the Ward Budget Scheme just over £9,000 has been agreed in the last month to help fund a range of community projects in seven different wards.

Projects in Plumstead, Thamesmead Moorings, Abbey Wood, Eltham North, Eltham South, Eltham West, and Kidbrooke with Hornfair are the latest to benefit from the money allocated by ward councillors.

Charlton Pet Cemetery received funding for new facilities, and a Friends group rep said: "We are very grateful for the support which will enable us to buy a noticeboard, stone seat, trellis and arch to go in the pet cemetery."

The 28th West Kent Boys Brigade received funding to replace broken equipment, and Steve Mann, Boys Brigade Captain said: "The ethos of our group is to welcome everyone regardless of background and to ensure that a child or young person knows that he is valued and cared for. This new equipment will mean that we are able to continue to do this."

Gaynor Wingham of Eltham Arts, who used the funding to record a CD, said: "This has been an exciting project working with such talented local songwriter/musicians, most of whom have never recorded professionally. Without the funding towards the pressing of 100 CDs we could not have gone ahead."

Up to £30,000 may be spent in each ward until 2018, and 16 community projects have benefited since the scheme's launch last October. It means councillors can respond to local needs and priorities by recommending projects which are signed off by council leader Cllr Denise Hyland. She said: "The scheme allows the council to respond directly to the local community and helps to enhance civic pride. It's aimed at projects that encourage resident participation."

Families celebrate estate's 100 years

Progress estate residents launch a year's programme of events

A YEAR of celebrating the centenary of the Progress Estate began on Monday, May 1st, with a family reunion at the estate's 100th anniversary event. The event was held at the Progress Estate, which was built in 1916 and is now a large estate of over 1000 houses. The event was attended by many families who have lived in the estate for generations. The event was a success and was enjoyed by all who attended. The event was a celebration of the estate's history and the families who have lived there for so long. The event was a great day for everyone and was a wonderful way to celebrate the estate's centenary.

The Royal Greenwich Festivals 2016 presents a spectacular

A SUMMER voyage of music, art and entertainment set sail with a launch on board a tall ship on the Woolwich riverside last week.

The royal borough hosted a special preview of the Royal Greenwich Festivals on the magnificent tall ship The Morgenster last Wednesday.

Spectators had a chance to meet some of the performers who will create a huge and eclectic range of performances, events, workshops and shows that make up the Royal Greenwich Festivals.

The launch also saw the countdown to the Rendezvous 2017 Tall Ships Regatta in April next year, when 50 majestic tall ships will gather on the river Thames before setting sail for Quebec to mark the 150th anniversary of the Canadian Federation.

The Festivals' spectacular programme of events will unfold across the royal borough this summer. Local people, businesses and visitors alike can look forward to watching – and participating. The fantastic array of events include street theatre, literature, music and dance performances.

Cllr Denise Hyland, leader of the royal borough council, said: "I am delighted to welcome back the Royal Greenwich Festivals for another exciting year of entertainment. This year's programme of events promises to be bigger and better than ever."

"The royal borough has a very strong commitment to arts and culture, especially animating our town centres with spectacular street performances designed to appeal to residents and visitors from all over the world. Our strong arts and tourism industry provides support for thousands of local jobs and provides a significant boost to the borough's economy."

"There are a huge number of wonderful attractions and vibrant streets here in the royal borough – with shops, cafes, bars, restaurants and museums offering unique food and gifts. I recommend residents and visitors sample as much of it as possible and make the most of what's on offer."

Cllr Denise Scott-McDonald, cabinet member for culture, creative industries and community wellbeing said: "The Royal Greenwich Festivals have become a mainstay of London's cultural scene, attracting audiences from far and wide to enjoy the entertainment on offer in the heart of a World Heritage Site."

"The royal borough is recognised as a great place of culture and its rich mix of arts and entertainment is helping to attract millions of visitors from all over the UK and worldwide every year. We are again looking forward to a great summer which will help to reinforce Greenwich as a must-see destination."

Dickens and Little Voice head for Eltham

CLASSIC Dickens comes to Bob Hope Theatre later this month with Roan Theatre Company's production of Great Expectations.

The characters - including Pip, the jilted Miss Havesham and escaped convict Magwitch - are brought to life in a haunting adaptation by Hugh Leonard.

"At once a social history, a study of human nature and a moral compass, Great Expectations is, above everything else, a ripping good yarn," said the theatre company chairman Graham Johnson.

The play runs from Wednesday to Saturday, May 25-28 with shows at 7.45pm and a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

Before then the theatre's own drama company will be performing The Rise and Fall of Little Voice, a play written by Jim Cartwright after he heard Jane Horrocks's impressions of singers such as Judy Garland and Shirley Bassey.

The play, in which Horrocks starred, was adapted into a film in 1998 when she again took the role of Little Voice alongside Michael Caine and Brenda Blethyn.

Now the Bob Hope Theatre Actors' Company is bringing the play to Eltham, directed by Sarah Howard.

It will be performed nightly at 7.45pm from Wednesday to Saturday, May 18-21.

The Bob Hope Theatre is in Wythfield Road and tickets for both productions cost £10, with concessions available. Call the box office on 020 8850 3702 or book online at www.bobhopetheatre.co.uk

A LOCAL drama group is to stage the London and world premiere of a new play by a well-known playwright.

The Charlton-based Alexandra Players performed an earlier play by Philip Ayckbourn last year and it was such a success that he has asked them to be the first to present his new production.

Louise Gaul, a member of the Players, told Greenwich Time: "Following the success of our performance last summer of The Essence of Love, Philip very kindly approached us and asked us to be the first group ever to perform a brand new play he has written called Timeshare - a comedy with farcical elements that plays with time and relationships."

Philip, who is the son of award-winning director and playwright Alan Ayckbourn, took his family to see last year's production and he has confirmed that he will also be along to watch Timeshare.

He told GT: "I chose to send the play to the Alexandra Players because I was very impressed with their 2015 production of The Essence of Love."

"They are an industrious and dedicated group and a good example of the many similar societies who are keeping the theatre's vital life blood pumping in this country despite serious cuts and underfunding."

He added: "I very much look forward to seeing the play come to life for its world premiere on the Alexandra Hall stage."

The comedy is set in a timeshare villa in Spain and opens to a scene that every timeshare owner must dread – the smell of dead rats and dirty underwear under the furniture.

Philip said: "The play explores the 'what if' scenario of a couple who, meeting with their younger selves, attempt to re design their lives by convincing their younger selves to make different choices."

Members of the Players thronged to the casting night for a part in the play and director Keith Hartley said he made his selection after a gruelling two-hour "battle royale".

They are Mark Walker, Katie Melani Cleanthous, Mark Higgins, Jackie Hartley, Rose Bayley and Lee Copp.

"All members are really excited to be a part of this brand new production which will see it's first ever performance, London and world premiere take place right here at the Alexandra Hall," he said.

Blockbusters around the block

A SEASON of great films is being screened at Woolwich Common Community Centre this summer.

Blockbusters such as Mission Impossible – Rogue Nation, Avengers: Age of Ultron and Inside Out are included in the programme, which starts in June.

While there will be a £4 charge for some of the screenings, others will be free social events where people can meet their neighbours and make new friends.

On August 2, the community centre will be showing Round Ireland With a Fridge, a film based on the book by comedian Tony Hawks (pictured in a scene from the film). Entry will be free but the audience will be asked to make donations to the Tony Hawks Centre for children which he helped open in Moldova in 2000.

Tickets can be booked at wccc-cinema.com or by calling the community centre at 16 Leslie Smith Square on 020 8855 2437. Screenings start on June 17 with a free showing of comedy animation Big Hero 6.

WCCC is keen to hear of any suggestions for future screenings – call them 020 8855 2437, email jane@gcda.org.uk or fill in the form on the website.

TRUE BRIT:
Charlie Covell

AN actor and writer from Blackheath who was selected as one of BAFTA's Breakthrough Brits last year is urging other young people to put themselves forward for the 2016 awards.

Charlie Covell has had a busy year since winning the award and has recently returned from Los Angeles where she met film director Andrew Haigh, whose most recent film 45 years, was nominated for an Oscar.

She also brunches with Parks and Recreation actor Amy Poehler and the team from the TV series Transparent.

Charlie said: "It's just brilliant. It means being able to seek advice from people in the industry that I've admired for years; it means meeting people whose work I've watched and loved since I was a kid. I couldn't be more thrilled or excited (or grateful)."

The initiative by the British Academy of Film and Television Arts (BAFTA) supports talented young people who are making a name for themselves in film, television and games.

Charlie had already been acting for ten years with roles in Peep Show, Misfits and other TV shows, and more recently she wrote two episodes for Russell T Davies' series Banana, taking the lead in one of them.

Davies, who devised the modern Dr Who series, wrote: "While people like Charlie Covell exist, there's hope for the entire industry."

To follow in Charlie's footsteps, find out more about the 2016 BAFTA Breakthrough Brits or apply at <http://bit.ly/Breakthrough-Brits>

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B1/B2 both in priority date order. Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B1 is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- or B2
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B1/B2.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

2 Find your applicant number

3 Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

4 Apply in one of three ways

Small is beautiful the Under Occupation scheme

If you are living in a Council property that is too big for you, we can help you to move to somewhere smaller. The Council will pay your removal costs, and £350 for each bedroom gained.

To join the scheme you must be willing to move to a home with two bedrooms less than you have now:

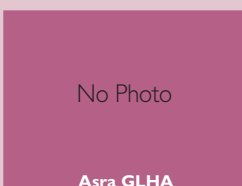

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

Rowing success for Globe juniors

MEDAL WINNERS: Meda Laukyte, Chelsea Fashina, Siobhan Samuel and Fiona McIntosh

by Laraine Clay

JUNIORS at Globe Rowing Club are gearing up for the National Schools Regatta later this month, after a successful last outing.

Several youngsters from the Greenwich-based club qualified to represent the Thames South East region in the recent National Inter-regional Regatta held in Nottingham, where they enjoyed considerable success.

They won three medals for the region – gold for Dominic Sullivan rowing singly; silver for Dominic, Ronnie Richardson, Jake Offiler and Peter Howard; and bronze for Meda Laukyte, Chelsea Fashina, Siobhan Samuel and Fiona McIntosh.

The club also did well in the GB Junior trials the same weekend with Callum Sullivan now in with a considerable chance of being selected.

Coach Maurice Coughlan told GT: "I am delighted with the squad's performance and the results have put Globe RC firmly on the map and in the GB selectors' eyes."

"It is particularly rewarding to be congratulated by some of the best coaches in the world, for such a fine performances from the Globe RC squad."

The club will be taking part in the National Schools Regatta at Eton Dorney in Buckinghamshire on May 27-29, and in the British Rowing Junior Championships in Nottingham in July.
